Our Products

Bringing home a new puppy was so exciting, and it lit our house up with joy. Discovering that our dog was allergic to the candles I was burning was a devastating moment for a candle lover like me. Our household went through quite a few adjustments in cleaning supplies, invested in some air filters, and eventually I followed the path of extensive internet research to create my own candles that were safe for our dog. That's when I began mastering the art of candle making. Jojo was a rescue chihuahua, and he became family the moment we brought him home with us. He loved sunbathing, tormenting the cat, and beef jerky snacks. He was a wild little guy with a big personality, and his legacy will always live on through the Wild West Candle Company. A business that was built based on my love for Jojo.

The Vineyard Collection

In 2022 we stumbled upon an award winning vineyard that produces heavenly scented wines that we wanted to use in our scented candles. After twelve months of extensive research and lab work, we successfully mastered the art of transforming these beautiful wines into oils for our line of fermented skincare products!

The fermentation process breaks down ingredients into smaller molecules, allowing the nutrients to penetrate deeper into the skin and hold onto moisture for longer. This increases the effectiveness of skincare products, and there are many more benefits that we uncovered by complete accident..

These skincare products are made with all natural ingredients, safe for all skin types, and highly recommended for individuals with skin conditions such as psoriasis, eczema, etc. Some of the other benefits of using fermented skincare include a balanced microdome, increasing good bacteria and reducing bad bacteria which strengthens the skin barrier, soothes irritation, and heals scars.

Fermented skincare improves hydration and prevents water loss in the skin. Since it delivers more nutrients and antioxidants into the skin, you may noticed reduced skin sensitivity and brighter skin tones. It is also one of the best regimens for anti-aging.

The vineyard collection features our natural selection of unscented fermented skincare products in addition to our scented lotions and soaps. Our products are free from phthalates, parabens, sulfites, and dyes. We use natural mica coloring in our soaps for visual purposes.

Vineyard soy candles are not made with fermented oils. They were simply inspired by the unique characteristics of Pillsbury vineyard in Willcox, Arizona.
